MORE SOLDIERS
ARRIVE AT CAMP2nd Regiment Gets Big Welcome At Camp Douglas Monday

Camp Douglas, Wis., Aug. 6.—More long lines of olive drab tents sprung up in camp on Monday, when several units of the Second regiment of infantry arrived. The camp population has passed the 10,000 mark.

The novelty of a rousing reception for incoming companies never wears off, and the Second regiment men were given a big welcome. Bands met them and formed a marching escort to camp sites, which were quickly turned into company streets. In the matter of equipment these organizations were little better off than the others that have marched here.

Monday's arrivals included Companies B and F, Oshkosh; C. Sheboygan; D. Ripon; E. Fond du Lac; G. Appleton; H. Manitowish; I. Marinette; K. Beaver Dam; and M. Oconto. Wisconsin is making an excellent record handling troops, just as it did when the guard was mobilized for service on the Mexican border.

The fact that practically all of the guard was brought in here on or about the same date does not reflect lack of speed. Units are being moved as fast as it is possible to obtain equipment. Schedules are being carried out on time, and the men are being handled promptly and without mishap.

A check of the hospital since camp indicates that there is less illness here than in any city of similar size in the state.

The general good health of the men is attributed in no small measure to the supply of good water here.

QUIT DELIVERY
OF MILK HERE

When Fred Smith, who had charge of the milk-delivery route for the Rhinelander Creamery & Produce company, resigned his position Saturday night, F. W. Meen, head of the company, decided to discontinue the business. Hundreds of telephone calls were received at the creamery company's office Sunday enquiring why the morning's milk had not been delivered and each one received the answer, "Gone out of business."

Mr. Meen said there is really no money in delivering milk and especially at this time when labor is scarce and milk prices are so high. In many cities milk sells for 9 cents per quart, but in Rhinelander the price is 7 cents and people feel they are being robbed at that.

Milk can be obtained at the Creamery Company's milk depot on S. Stevens street and all tickets which customers may have on hand will be redeemed. Customers are also requested to turn in all bottles in their possession and close all old accounts as soon as convenient.

POPULAR PELICAN
COUPLE MARRY

Miss Emma Lassig and Charles S. DeCanter were united in marriage Friday at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Julius Lassig in the town of Pelican. Rev. P. G. Clemens was the officiating clergyman. Following the ceremony a large number of friends of the couple were present at a reception.

Mr. and Mrs. DeCanter are prominent and popular young people of the town of Pelican where they will continue their residence. The community joins in wishing them a long and happy wedded life.

NEW SETTLERS

G. W. Bowers of Postville, Ia., has purchased forty acres of land next to Chas. Steele's place, near Goodnow, from C. P. Crosby, and will have a house and barn erected as soon as he can get the lumber there. Mr. Bowers was here about two weeks ago, and after examining the land he visited with August Kamke at Harshaw for several days.

Mr. Kamke's father-in-law has also bought a nice piece of land there and the two families will load a car with their goods together, and will move up some time in September. Both are very well pleased with the country and with the crops.

CITY CONTINUES
TO PAY BAND

At the August meeting of the city council Tuesday night, the attempt to suspend the payment of $150 a month for the maintenance of the Rhinelander City Band was voted down. The matter came up for much warm discussion, some of the aldermen feeling that the band did not do the right thing in leaving the city on last July 4th.

An effort is to be made to have flagmen stationed at all railroad crossings in the city and City Attorney H. L. Beers was named to submit the proposition to the railroad companies.

The board of public works was instructed to do as they decide advisable on the petition to open Balsam street for traffic. The council authorized Mayor Clark to select a delegation to attend the convention of Wisconsin municipalities in Racine.

BIG CROWD AT
PICNIC SUNDAY

Hundreds of people attended the picnic Sunday held under the auspices of the I. B. P. S. & P. M. W. at Fette's resort. Boats and automobiles were utilized in carrying the crowd to the park. Ideal picnic weather prevailed.

In the afternoon a fine program of games and contests was carried out which provided great amusement. Cardin's band furnished music throughout the day. The picnic will long be remembered as one of the most delightful occasions of the summer.

TWO EXPRESS
CARTS HERE NOW

Two delivery wagons are now being operated in this city by the American and Western Express companies whose joint office is located on S. Stevens street. The second wagon was put into use Saturday.

Gust Bronson, who has charge of the interests of both companies here, has during the last year or more, been instrumental in largely increasing the business. There is probably not a more energetic and capable express agent in the state. He is well liked among the patrons.

LONG AUTO TRIP

Mrs. J. B. Carter, daughter, Marcella, and son, Harvey, arrived in Rhinelander Tuesday, driving all the way from Miles City, Mont., in a Dodge car. They are guests of Mrs. Carter's sister, Mrs. Peter Kurtzweil, 521 S. Oneida avenue.

Mrs. Carter says the trip from Miles City proved delightful and, with the exception of one puncture, the Dodge came through with out a mishap. Some rough roads were encountered but delays were infrequent. From here Mrs. Carter and children will drive to Shawano where after a short stay they will return to the west.

ALLEN IS SENT TO GREEN BAY

George Allen was taken to Wausau Thursday by Under-sheriff Crofoot and District Attorney A. J. O'Melia and pleaded guilty in Marathon county circuit court to a charge of incest. Judge James O'Neil, who was sitting for Judge A. H. Reid, sentenced Allen to two years in the reformatory at Green Bay.

HURT BY GRASS CUTTER
Frank Mitchell departed Monday for LaCrosse in response to a telegram stating that his daughter had been seriously injured by a power grass cutting machine. Mr. Mitchell holds a position at the Robbins floor plant.

LITTLE GIRL HURT
A cupboard filled with dishes toppled over on the little daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Sackell of the east side, last Thursday, resulting in an injury to her cheek and minor bruises about the body. The child was climbing onto the cupboard when the accident occurred.

FINE BAND CONCERT

A large crowd enjoyed the regular weekly concert of the Rhinelander City Band on the court house square Wednesday night. A splendid program of popular and classical music was given.

ONEIDA COUNTY FAIR
NEXT BIG ATTRACTION

September 4, 5 and 6 are the dates of the twenty-second annual Oneida County Fair. Always the greatest event of the year, the officers of the Oneida County Agricultural Society give every assurance that the coming fair will far outclass any previous show of the kind ever held in Rhinelander. And that is assuring a whole lot, as Oneida County has produced some excellent fairs.

There is good reason to believe that the displays in all departments will be larger and better than ever. Farmers in every section of the county are arranging for entries. Many outside people have also requested exhibit space. Housewives throughout the city and county are taking unusual interest in the fair, which means that the domestic departments will be well filled with entries. September 4 is entry day.

There will also be nothing slow about the Oneida County Fair this year when it comes to amusements. There will be a splendid program of horse racing each day, a carnival company, which will furnish heaps of fun for young and old, and several high class free attractions. Among the latter are the Tennessee Warblers; La Maure Brothers, comedy acrobats; Haller and Haller and Jemette and Smith, celebrated wire, trapeze and ring artists.

Plan now to attend the fair. Bring the entire family and stay the three days. Rhinelander hotels and restaurants will furnish ample accommodations for all visitors at usual rates. Don't forget the time and place. All roads will lead to Rhinelander on September 4, 5 and 6.

SOLDIERS AT CAMP
DOUGLAS BIG EATERS

Camp Douglas, now the home of more than 10,000 soldiers, may be a baby city, but it eats and wears out clothes like a grown-up municipality. From a broad expanse of trees, grass and sand, stretching away between picturesque bluffs, almost over night it has become one of the hustling and most interesting cities in the state. With this sudden growth has come a great demand for food and clothing.

Soldiers are the wonder eaters of the world, and a day's rations for camp run about like this:
10,000 lbs. of beef
2,500 lbs. of Bacon
8,000 lbs. of bread
10,000 lbs. of potatoes
2,000 lbs. of onions
1,500 lbs. of beans
1,000 lbs. of rice
480 cans of tomatoes
480 cans of corn
700 lbs. of coffee
400 cans of milk
2,000 lbs. of sugar
Rations are drawn in accordance with schedule. Everything is reduced to a scientific basis, and it is up to the cooks to keep within the prescribed limit. But the men get plenty to eat.

To equip the men in wearing apparel is another big job. In addition to the equipment on hand when Uncle Sam decided that he wanted an increased force of fighting men to lick the kaiser, Camp Douglas has drawn and will distribute the following: 10,400 belts; 13,600 breeches (foot); nearly 5,000 breeches (mounted); 7,800 coats; 7,140 hats, (cord); 30,000 pairs of drawers; 3,153 pairs of gloves; 8,700 service hats; 6,500 leggings (foot); nearly 2,000 leggings (mounted); 17,500 pairs of shoes; 47,500 pairs of stockings.

Lieut. Col. Williams, as head of the quartermaster department, is the big business man of the reservation. He probably sees more men and handles more matters in a day than any other business man in the state. When he isn't in his office or superintending the unloading of a troop train, he is flying around camp in a motorcycle go-cart. "Action" is his first, middle and last name—Fred C. Sheasby in Milwaukee Sentinel.

TO RAISE STOCK

C. P. Crosby and son, Charles, have decided to engage in stock raising, together with their farming interests, and accordingly have purchased as a starter ten head of fine Guernseys from the John H. Higgins farm. These cattle will be placed on the Crosby farm in the town of Crescent.

C. P. Crosby asserts that there is big money in stock raising in Oneida county and advises farmers to buy cattle. Start on a small scale and watch the business grow.

MRS. YOUNG DEAD

After a short illness with pleurisy Mrs. Frances Young passed away Wednesday morning at St. Mary's hospital. She was thirty-four years old and leaves a husband and family. She had charge of a restaurant on Thayer street until the time of her illness. The funeral will be held from St. Mary's church Friday morning. Rev. Father Beaudette will officiate.

—President McKinley.

At Bunker Hill, liberty was at stake, at Gettysburg the union was the issue, before Manila and Santiago our armies fought not for gain or revenge, but for human rights. They contended for the freedom of the oppressed, for whose welfare the United States has never failed to lend a helping hand to establish and uphold and, I believe, never will. The glories of the war cannot be dimmed, but the result will be incomplete and unworthy of us unless supplemented by civil victories, harder possibly to win, in their way no less indispensable.

—President McKinley, At Atlanta.

MOBILIZING CARS
Railroads in the northwest their war board are mobilizing all available freight cars to move the crops. According to G. W. Murnane, secretary Twin City Sub-Committee, the car situation is at present better than at this time last year.

"Ship early" is a good motto to follow, says Mr. Murnane. "By doing so merchants and others can have better assurance of getting merchandise more promptly than will be the case if they delay. Increased rail traffic incident to the war is likely to cause an unprecedented demand for freight equipment in the near future."

"Among those problems confronting railway managers is that of getting enough coal into this territory to prevent suffering next winter. Although more has already been hauled to this section by the railroads than a year ago the supply coming by boat up the lakes is woefully short."

WANTS PUBLIC OPINION

Madison, Wis., Aug. 7.—That he would direct the district attorneys of the state to order Wisconsin saloons closed on Sundays, provided the Wisconsin Anti-Saloon league could show him that public sentiment demands it, was the answer Gov. Philipp on Tuesday gave a committee of that organization which conferred with him on the possibilities of "putting on the lid." The governor said that a special session of the legislature some time in the winter is likely to take up the matter of Sunday closing.

ACCEPT ALIENS
FOR WAR SERVICE

John J. Verage, county clerk, is in receipt of the following telegram from Governor E. L. Philipp: Madison, Wis., 3:15 p. m. Aug. 7. John J. Verage, Rhinelander, Wis. I am directed by the Provost Marshall General to call your attention by wire to this ruling. Requests reaching this office recently indicate that in some quarters the belief prevails that friendly aliens who have not declared their intentions to become citizens but are ready and willing to serve, are disqualified from entering the military service of the United States and therefore that they must take out first papers before they can be accepted. It is to be regretted that such a misunderstanding should have arisen. The qualifications for volunteering enlistment in time of war are no more restricted for service in the new national army than for the regular army. Such alien non-declarants are virtually volunteers. The selective service act provided for their registration but it did not regard them as being under any liability to serve, and it therefore gave them full liberty to claim exemption when called by local boards. Now, that information reveals their willingness in large numbers to decline this exemption, and to accept service in this war against the common enemy of our civilization, it should be fully understood that their service is heartily welcomed and they should be accepted. Whenever upon summons they fail to claim their right of exemption they are assisting the cause of their own country by aiding the United States to triumph in this war. The more of them that enter the service the better, for in this way will be removed the cause of dissatisfaction heard in some quarters that although the quota was based on total population, including aliens, the actual draft reached only citizens and declarants. Local boards are directed to facilitate in every way the acceptance of friendly aliens, non-declarants for military service and thus to enable them to do their share to assist the country which has given them a refuge and an honorable living. Please make this telegram accessible to newspapers.

LOSES LIFE IN LAKE AT MERCER

Charles Baker, a Mercer young man, was drowned in Echo lake at Mercer on Monday morning. He and another Mercer resident named Frank Baratus went out for a canoe ride and when they had got out about fifty feet from shore the canoe capsized; Baker, although he was an expert swimmer, went down immediately and never came to the surface again; Baratus was unable to swim at all but managed to grab ahold of the canoe and hung onto the canoe until help arrived. Baker's body was recovered after it had been in the water for two hours. He was 23 years of age and had charge of the pumping station for the Northwestern road at Mercer.

TOM McDERMOTT
KNEW LITTLE

Thomas McDermott of this city was well acquainted with Frank Little, the I. W. W. agitator who was lynched in Butte, Mont., recently. During several weeks last summer Little was a guest at Mr. McDermott's hotel in Hibbing, Minn. At that time Little was endeavoring to launch the I. W. W. movement among the miners of the Mesaba range. Several other lieutenants of the organization were with him. Mr. McDermott declares that Little was a "bad actor" in every sense of the word and the mob which shuffled him off this earth did the government a valuable service. In Mr. McDermott's opinion the I. W. W. disturbances in this country will never be obliterated until all the agitators have been similarly dealt with.

city, died in Los Angeles, Fri
He was 60 years old and un ried.

The story goes that this young man was in a pool shop the other day and said something about the members of the Tomahawk Machine Gun company which was exceedingly disrespectful and extremely vulgar. The members of the company heard of it and notified him that he would be given a certain length of time to make an apology. He failed to do this, and Friday afternoon several members of the company saw him on the street. They started to overtake him, but he started on a run, through the alleys and then out onto a street and into his automobile. When he overtook him, carried him in the car, and then he began promising to be allowed to go peacefully to the armory and make his apology. He was allowed to do this just when he reached the top of the stairs leading to the armory. He pulled a gun, threatening to shoot if he was not allowed to go. Captain Fosnot, it is said, took the gun from him and he then marched into the armory and apologized before the company. Several citizens who were witnesses to the excitement.

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, announced it incurable. Science has proven Catarrh to be a constitutional disease, and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only Constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. There is said to be one editor in heaven. How he got there is not positively known, but it is conjectured that he passed himself off as a minister and stepped in, unexpectedly. TEACHERS WRITE ESSAYS ON WAR

"Why the United States is at War," is the subject of a prize essay contest in which all Wisconsin public school teachers are to be given an opportunity to compete this fall. The prizes range from $10 to $75.

The essay contest is being conducted in all the states of the union by the National Board for Historical Service and the Wisconsin competition is in charge of the Wisconsin Historical society. The essays are to be 3,000 words long and will be due not later than Jan. 1, 1918.

Five prizes, ranging from $10 to $75, are offered to public high school teachers. Three prizes, $10, $25, and $75, are offered to teachers in public elementary schools. When the prizes have been awarded in each of the state competitions, the winning essays will be turned in to compete in a national contest for two additional prizes of $75 each.

The essays must be historical in character and must include a bibliography of sources. The general aim is to treat the subject in a way that will be intelligible and interesting to the pupils in the teachers' classes. Because many teachers do not have access to large libraries, the National board is preparing a list of sources of information and other documents of historical interest.

Stevens Point—Max Ristrow was among the merry makers at a dance at the home of Herman Borchart near Amherst. With his partner, Miss Bernice Leary, he was executing the steps of a dreamy waltz and did not notice how close they were to a stairway. Ristrow swung his partner over the edge and the two fell heavily down the stairs. In the fall the young man tried to protect his partner, and companions picked up Miss Leary little hurt. Ristrow did not move. He was placed on board a train bound for the hospital at Oshkosh, but died without regaining consciousness.

Hurley—Gust Eliason, a Finn lumberjack, who had been employed in the Foster-Latimer camps near Mellen, was caught in the act of pulling the spikes from the rails of a spur track on the Soo line near Mellen one day last week and placed under arrest. As the offense was committed in this county he was brought to Hurley and on being arraigned in municipal court he pleaded guilty to the charge. He was taken to Ashland Wednesday by Sheriff Menestrea and pleaded guilty before Judge Hissord and was given a sentence of four years at Waupun.

Frank Little, the I. W. W. agitator who was lynched in Butte, Mont., made a visit to Ironwood last summer, evidently sizing up the town to see what could be done here in the way of stirring up trouble. He stopped at the Curry Hotel, where he made himself very obnoxious by his anarchistic statements. He went to Bessemer one day and returned in a drunken condition and was lodged in the city jail by the local police officers. The next day the officers told him that the best thing he could do was to get out of the city, as men of his kind were not wanted and would not be tolerated here. Little evidently thought that they knew what they were talking about, as he said that he was willing to get out of the town and stay out. He was taken to the train by an officer and shook the dust of Ironwood from his shoes for the good, both of him and the city.

Gladstone—The mystery surrounding the disappearance of Hector Fish, aged Escanaba man, was solved when a searching party discovered the remains of the man's body in the burner at the Wells' saw mill. Some days ago it was suggested that the man might have accidentally fallen into the burner but the idea was scouted by friends and members of searching parties. After the searchers had exhausted every effort to locate the man, it was decided to make an exploration of the burner, though the party had but little hopes of finding the man's body there. The burner was opened and when the searchers entered they found the charred bones of Fish. The identification was made complete by the finding of the man's watch.

Oconto—Frank Bebeau sleeps with his mouth open. That is, he did one night while sleeping in a barn at Camp 2, Lakewood, of the Holt Lumber company of Oconto. As a result, a straw dropped into his throat causing an infection. Bebeau claims that two operations were necessary. He does not claim that the Holt company was responsible for the straw being in such a position that it would fall into his open mouth, but simply says he was injured while in the employ of the company.

GET $45 FIRST MONTH

Rhinelanders soldiers on the Camp Douglas reservation are pleased with the announcement that Gov. Philipp had approved plans for the transfer of $225,000 from the general fund to the state members of the badger state guard for a period of thirty days from the day they were called out July 14. The Rhinelanders and other Wisconsin men will receive a difference between the federal pay and that provided by the Burke law, which ranges from several dollars a day for officers to 50 cents for privates. For the first month's service the privates will receive $15 or 14 pay day is announced for Aug. 14.

TIME TO ACT

Don't Wait for the Fatal Stages of Kidney Illness. Profit by Rhinelanders People's Experiences.

Occasional attacks of backache, irregular urination, headaches and dizzy spells are frequent symptoms of kidney disorders. It's an error to neglect these ills. The attacks may pass off for a time but generally return with greater intensity. Don't delay a minute. Begin taking Doan's Kidney Pills, and keep up their use until the desired results are obtained. Good work in Rhinelanders proves the effectiveness of this great kidney remedy.

Mrs. J. Standinger, 727 Arbutus St., Rhinelanders, says: "I was bothered by kidney weakness and once I had to call in a physician. Finally I had the good fortune to learn of Doan's Kidney Pills and they soon gave me relief. After I took a couple of boxes, my kidneys became normal and I had no further need of a kidney medicine until two years ago. Then trouble with my kidneys set in again and they acted too often. I again took Doan's Kidney Pills and obtained quick relief."

Price 60c, at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mrs. Standinger had. Foster-Milburn Co., Props., Buffalo, N. Y.

WHAT CATARRH IS

It has been said that every third person has catarrh in some form. Science has shown that nasal catarrh often indicates a general weakness of the whole system, and muffs and vapors do little, if any good.

To correct catarrh you should enrich your blood with the oil-food in Scott's Emulsion which is a medicinal-food and a building- tonic, free from alcohol or any harmful drugs. Try it—YOU!

the war grafters, the tax dodgers,

cost of the war, the manufacturers
who are reaping illegitimate profits,
the food speculators who are com-

EDITING A NEWSPAPER.
Editing a newspaper is pleasing business—if you can stand it.
If subscribers want to bowl out

If business is good—advertising isn't anything to do with it, but conditions are right.

If we print what displeases—we

BOYS ENJOYING LIFE IN CAMP

Judge Charles F. Smith, one of the Rhinelander delegation who visited Camp Douglas Sunday, reported that he found the members of Company L well and apparently enjoying camp life. The boys were greatly pleased to see the home folks and expressed the desire that more Rhinelanderites will call on them before they depart for Texas. Letters from home will be appreciated.

According to Judge Smith it is not known in Camp Douglas when Company L will go south. Any reports pertaining to the movements of the troops come from unofficial sources and are generally not true.

SUIT OF TURKISH TOWELS
One of the most attractive and clever window displays seen in this city for some time is at the Goldstone store where Herbert Goldberg has arranged an exhibit of Turkish bath towels. A feature of the display is a ladies' suit of notably design made entirely of towels. It is needless to state that the window is coming in for its full share of attention.
Mr. Goldberg has received many compliments on his taste and originality in trimming windows. He manages to present something classical and entirely new every once in awhile.

CAMP DOUGLAS HEALTHY PLACE

Grounds Are Kept Cleaner
Than Majority Of Private Yards

An inspection of the Camp Douglas military grounds made by Deputy State Health Officer G. W. Henrika revealed that the sanitary officials of the Wisconsin National guard are putting forth every effort to safeguard the health of the soldiers. Dr. Henrika reported that the grounds are cleaner than most private yards, and are kept so by daily raking and cleanings. There is a remarkable absence of flies as a result.

All frame sanitary structures have been replaced by brick and concrete vaults and metal buildings, which are burned out daily with crude oil and straw. Coal tar antiseptics are then used. Each company street receives a daily cleaning, all refuse, waste paper, etc., being removed.

Each cookhouse has its covered garbage container, and rigid rules are enforced to prevent soil pollution.
The camp is abundantly supplied with good, wholesome food. Camp officials informed the inspector that there is no necessity for friends and relatives to send perishable foods to the soldiers, for military rules forbid having foodstuffs in company tents, where flies are likely to be attracted and bred. Coming through the mails, also, such products often reach the camp in a crushed or spoiled condition.

The village of Camp Douglas is seeking to improve its sanitary state, having appointed a health inspector. All factors that tend to increase the fly nuisance will receive attention, and all hotels, restaurants and ice cream parlors will undergo regular surveys.

The milk supplied to the camp is now up to a high quality as to cleanliness. Numerous sediment tests have been made by officials of the state board of health, together with personal visits to the farms.
The milk producers have been instructed in the use of small-top milk pails and other devices for proper handling of milk so as to protect the health of the soldiers. The milk supply of this encampment, in Dr. Henrika's opinion will compare favorably with that of any large city having good milk supervision, and is much cleaner than the milk sold in most communities which do not practice supervision of their milk supply. The tuberculin test is optional, but is applied by some of the dairies.—Milwaukee Journal.

CALL DRAFT ARMY ON SEPTEMBER 1

Each State To Send One-Third Of Allotment To Camp

Washington, Aug. 8.—The first quota of the draft army will be called Sept. 1, it was announced at the war department today. The government will call one-third of each quota to be enlisted for a mobilization camp between Sept. 1 and 5.

Simultaneously with this statement, a telegram was sent to state governors by Provost Marshal Gen.
Crowder, giving new rulings on the dependency clause which will mean that many married men will have to go to the trenches. New definitions of what constitutes dependency, leave many married men, hitherto, exempt, with no further recourse but to serve. Where other means of support exist, married men must go, the ruling holds.

States are expected to have at least one-third of their quota not exempt or discharged by Sept. 1.
Otherwise they will not be furnishing men as fast as the war department is ready for them. The local boards are being urged to expedite the certification of their lists.

Gen. Crowder, ruling on marriage exemptions says:

"The general basis for ruling up on such questions should be the spirit and purpose of the act in providing for such discharge, where-ever the terms of the act and of the regulations are not in themselves conclusive. The act authorizes the president to discharge wherever the parties drafted are in a status relative to persons dependent upon them for support which renders their exclusion for discharge advisable.

"Such dependency ordinarily renders discharge advisable, because since the drafted loses civil income and thus loses his means of support, the wife is left without support and this lack of support is the effect which the act aims to avoid.
"But wherever such effect does not in fact, follow and the wife is not left without reasonable support but will receive such support from other sources, there is no real dependency rendering discharge advisable.

"The following cases are within this ruling:

"A wife and children.
"1 Where the parents or other relatives of the wife or the husband are able, ready and willing to provide adequate support for her and children, if any, during the absence of the husband.

"2 Where the wife owns land which has produced income by the husband's labor but which could with reasonable certainty be rented, during his absence to other persons so as to produce adequate support.

"3 Where there exists some arrangement by which the salary or wage of the husband is continued, in whole or in part, by third persons, being employers or insurers, or others and such portion of the salary or wage, either alone or with an allotment of his soldiers' pay or with other definite income, will furnish a reasonable adequate support.

"B—Other dependents:
"1 Wherein one of the foregoing ways a reasonable, adequate support is provided for a widowed mother, infirm parents or orphan child under 16 years of age, of a son, or brother or father called into service.

Under presidential regulations, section 23, page 5, providing that any certificate of discharge may be withdrawn, modified or removed by the local board, the board is authorized to reopen any claim of exemption already passed upon and still awaiting disposition on appeal to the district board, for the purpose of receiving any affidavits or making other inquiries relative to dependency as defined in the present rulings and the local board shall transmit to the district board such affidavits and its own minutes thereon for consideration on appeal."

FAST TIME FOR HUDSON

T. C. Wood, salesman in Rhine-clander and vicinity for the Hudson car, has received word that Driver Strickler in a Hudson Super-Six special won two of the races in the Marquette, Mich., tournament recently. All of the events were five mile sprints. The two races won by Strickler were by far the fastest on the card. A Marmon won the first race of 5 miles, in 7 minutes and 26 seconds. The Hudson did not contest in this race. Strickler in the Hudson special took the second race in 7 minutes and 6 seconds, beating the time of the first race by 20 seconds. The time of the third race of five miles was 8 minutes flat.

The Hudson special won the last race of the card in the fastest time of the day—6 minutes and 46 seconds. The time was extraordinarily fast for a half mile dirt track, which was heavy from rains.

CARRY GOODS BUT WANT DISCOUNT

The women of Bayfield county are heartily in favor of any movement which will "Eliminate the Waste and Help Win the War," but they want to see some of the benefit coming their way.

This talk of having the retail merchants cut out some of their deliveries, while customers carry their own packages home makes a hit with them but only when the merchant agrees to give them a discount for cash purchases under such conditions. In some parts of the county, according to statements by the county Council of Defense, the women are bringing pressure to bear on the retailers to such an end.

Those back of the movement have it figured out that the merchants are making money now, or they would not be able to stay in business, and in any event that prices for every commodity are high enough. If they enable the business man to save money by cutting down or doing away with his delivery facilities they insist that they are entitled to at least a part of the saving since they are doing the work that the delivery force was formerly paid to do.

The county Council of Defense is investigating the delivery conditions in various business places throughout the county, particularly in groceries, meat markets and department stores.

night Mr. Henning observed the opening of his ice cream parlor

PRETTY WEDDING AT ST. MARY'S

A pretty wedding took place at eight o'clock Wednesday morning at St. Mary's church when Miss Constantine Nagel, daughter of Mr.
and Mrs. Gustav Nagel, became the wife of Mr. George Stumpf, Rev.
Fr. W. A. Beaudette, pastor of St.
Mary's, performed the ceremony.
The groom's sister, Miss Catherine Stumpf, and brother Arthur Stumpf of Appleton, were bridesmaid and best man. The bride wore a gown of white, and Miss Stumpf was attired in pink chiffon. A number of relatives and friends were present at the ceremony, which was followed by a breakfast at the residence of the bride's parents at 115
Anderson street.

The bride is one of Rhinelander's accomplished young ladies. After graduating from the high school here in 1913 she entered the Oneida County Training school. Upon completing her course in that institution she became one of the county's efficient teachers, last year teaching in Crescent.

Mr. Stumpf came to this city from Appleton a number of years ago and for a time followed the moving picture business, having charge of the old Bijou. For the last two years he has been engaged in the mercantile line here as proprietor of the Leader Store at 5
S. Brown street. He is recognized as a very capable young business man.

Mr. and Mrs. Stumpf will occupy the cozy home at 817 Margaret St.
which the groom recently purchased. That all the good things of life may come their way is the wish of their innumerable friends.

DENMARK.

Theodor Jorgensen, a native of Statene, Langeland, died intestate in America, leaving an estate of $100,000. He was supposed to have no heirs. But when his death became known there suddenly sprang up a score of persons who claim the estate. At least some of them can substantiate their relationship, and the people of Langeland are glad because the $100,000 will come to their island.

The Kvissel people's high school has been sold to a man who intends to modify the plan of the school by adding courses in farming and housekeeping.

The Teachers' association has asked the government to take steps to prevent the children from using tobacco.

An internal disease is killing off the furs on the Aebel Island.

NORWAY.

A Norwegian steamer, the Thorum, in coast traffic, chartered by the Norwegian government itself with cargo of hay to relieve the fodder famine in the northern part of the country, was stopped by a German U-boat inside the three-mile line, that means in Norwegian waters; the Norwegian flag was lowered and the German flag was run up, as the German U-boat chief declared the steamer a German prize because of lack of special clearing papers. A Norwegian torpedo boat arrived, the Norwegian captain declared that as the steamer was in Norwegian waters, she was not liable to be seized by German U-boats, ordered the Norwegian flag down again, and the German lowered. After some argument, however, he yielded to the German view and allowed the steamer to be taken as prize to a German port and the Norwegian flag for the second time displaced by the German. This happened May 10 and, upon an interpolation in the storming regarding this affair Minister of Foreign Affairs Thlen answered that the government's protest in Berlin and the assurance of the steamer being a government chartered boat had only met unwillingness to straighten out the affair and give a satisfactory excuse. On the contrary, there was no prospect of the ship being released in the near future, as the case would be tried before a prize court. More humiliating was the announcement that the Norwegian crew now would be brought before German court-martial because they, according to orders from a Norwegian naval officer in Norwegian waters, had hoisted the Norwegian flag.

International fish story. A member of the crew of the Berlin, a converted German cruiser which has been interned at Himmelfik, near Trondhjem, almost since the beginning of the war, has been in the habit of netting flounders in the bay. The other morning he found his net cut to pieces and a part of it gone. Members of the crew of the British steamer Korno, which was at anchor in the harbor at the time, were suspected, and the police boarded the ship to get light on the matter. Yes, three men had been out fishing, and their gear got caught in a net, which they pulled up and cut to pieces in order to get rid of it. The Germans tried to make out that the work was a case of malice prepense; but the authorities came to the conclusion that the English, who were young men, who knew next to nothing about the mysteries of fishing, simply and honestly knew no better.

Norway has grown rich during the war. But in spite of the golden flood there has been no such suffering in the country since 1812, when the crops failed to such an extent that people actually had to systematize the making of bread out of pine bark. Food and fuel are getting more scarce from day to day, and still worse times are in sight on account of the American embargo on the staple necessities of life.

A fire in Trondhjem spread to different points among the vast storehouses. During the fire a Norwegian steamer blew up. Supplies for the allies reported worth millions have been destroyed.

Norway has more money at present than ever before, but is lacking in food, according to Knut Hachke and Anders Borresen, bankers of Christiania, Norway, on their way to the Pacific coast. Mr. Hachke said that under an agreement Norway is supplying the British government with 85 per cent of its surplus fish catch, and the remainder 15 per cent to Germany. He said that if the United States refused to sell food to Norway because of the embargo of fish sold to Germany, Norwegians will not be able to FINLAND.

The "Ireland of Russia" sang its final word of defiance at the Russian provisional government and promptly translated it into action. The Finnish Landtag passed a bill declaring Finland's absolute independence from Russia as a separate autonomous state. In taking this action the separatists openly admitted that they were taking advantage of Russia's plight. They argued that Russia, confronted as she is with terrific difficulties at home and at the front, will not be able to try to repress Finland's disaffection by force of arms. With disaster on the march in Galicia and the German big guns booming on the Riga-Dvinsk front, any military steps to enforce Russia's authority on Finland seems to be out of the question. On the other hand, to leave the Finnish secession unchallenged would be inviting the Ukraine and many other provinces to follow Finland's lead.

The Finnish Landtag, having by a vote of 163 to 27, declared the necessity of immediately voting the autonomy bill, adopted it forthwith in full by a vote of 130 to 53. The Landtag rejected by a vote of 104 to 80 an amendment by Deputy Oellas proposing that the bill should be submitted for the approbation of the Russian provisional government.

SWEDEN.

The position of the conservatives in Sweden, as in other countries, is precarious. The autocracy of Russia crumbled down under the first serious attack of the revolutionary forces and this result has given a tremendous encouragement to the liberal elements of Sweden during their fight for political equality for men and women. The whole aspect of Swedish politics has changed during the last months. The great masses are not any longer satisfied with empty words from the government and the riksdag. They want action, and quick action, as the only means of preventing them from taking matters into their own hands. The riots, which took place outside of the palace to the riksdag are an illustration of the new spirit of action among the Swedish working class. Policemen and soldiers in hundreds had to be used against the masses, trying to force a passage to the building of the Swedish parliament, and a great number of people were injured. Such occurrence would have been impossible in Sweden only a few months ago. In its powerful newspaper, the Social Demokraten, Hjalmar Branting interprets the demonstrations as a warning to the king and the ruling class not to oppose the will of the people after the result of the elections has been made clear. Up to the present time the iron will of M. Branting has succeeded in keeping the great majority of social democrats from putting a program of drastic action into practice. But the limit of their endurance has now been nearly reached, and the bulk of Swedish socialists are said to be ready to back up their demands with action if the introduction in Sweden of a government more favorable to the people is postponed very much longer.

In the London prize court the attorney general asked for the condemnation of some 7,800 tons of dried fruits from New York and San Francisco, seized on the steamers San Francisco and Pacific, consigned to the Swedish victualling commission, a government department, but alleged to be intended for export to Germany. Before the war, said the attorney general, the annual requirements of Sweden in these commodities was 6,500 tons, but in 1915 the imports had totaled 11,500 tons, while for the first half of 1916 6,500 tons had been imported. Besides this, he added, Sweden had on hand before the war 11,000 tons of these fruits, yet in the summer of 1916 no dried fruits remained in Sweden.

Three Germans, one of them a captain of marines, have just been expelled from Sweden for espionage, which unquestionably resulted in the sinking of many ships. Their seat of operations was Gothenburg, and their reports appear to have been made through Copenhagen. One posed as a merchant, the second as a teacher of languages, and the third, who was the leader, as a wholesale merchant.

P. P. Waldenstrom, the famous leader of the Mission Covenant, died July 14 in Stockholm. For half a century he was very prominent in the religious life of Sweden, and it may be added that no matter what this man said or did, he was always interesting.

The body of King Carl XII was exhumed July 19 in order that it might be established whether the bullet that ended his life 109 years ago came from an assassin or from the Norwegian fortress of Fredriksten, which he was investing.

Since June 1 it has been impossible to be served with any kind of liquor in Sweden without an accompanying order for a warm meal costing about 40 cents. Even then no more than about five fluid ounces of liquor may be served in all, and not more than a third of this may consist of strong brandy. One result of the new order unquestionably has been a great waste of food for countless meals are ordered and either left untouched or else slightly toyed with and mixed with cigar and cigarette ashes by careless people.

Washing Disease Away
To most of us it is surprising to learn how much attention the medical officers in the French battlefields give to personal cleanliness of the soldiers as a disease preventive. It would almost seem to one not initiated in the ways of war, that so many big things need to be done minor necessities, like baths for example, might be suspended or at least be made a matter of convenience. Not so, however.

Partly because typhus fever is spread by lice, the greatest care is exercised to provide bathing facilities. The French furthermore, maintain barbers to "complete the toilet of the men by trimming the hair. How difficult the bathing may be is indicated by following from an article on "Military Sanitation" in the American Journal of Public Health:

"The water is warmed on the cook fire and the men are brought in groups of ten, made to undress and are scrubbed. In especially unfavorable conditions in cold weather, the bathing may be done in the stables where the heat from the animals will maintain a comfortable temperature." Few American homes are so poor that better provisions than these, at least, are not offered.

"In theory, at least, the French insist much more strongly than the British upon the cleanliness of the soldier. More than once a day he is required to wash hands and feet, clean nails and comb hair. Mouth and teeth are washed in the absence of a brush, with a soap solution and then rinsed. There should be a daily bath. At least every week the men are required to take a shower bath. The soldier is also required to frequently wash his clothing."

Cleanliness of hands and teeth, especially, is a great health agency. If soldiers living under present war conditions are required to attend to such disease prevention measures, certainly, we who stay at home among relatively luxurious surroundings, should find a way to do no less for our health's sake.

SAVING FOR THE NATION
With our country at war, economy of necessities becomes the duty of every patriotic citizen. If every family in the United States cooked on a MONARCH Range, thousands of tons of fuel daily would be saved for other useful purposes.

That the MONARCH Range needs less fuel to do its work is not an empty boast but an actual fact that we can demonstrate so that anyone will see it as plainly as we do. The reason lies in the manner of its construction—its seams and joints are made tight without stove putty by riveting the steel plates to the Malleable Iron castings. That means permanent, not temporary tightness.

And the most delightful part of it is that in this case true economy goes hand in hand with all of the things you want most in a kitchen Range—perfect baking, continuous satisfactory service, handsome appearance and time-saving convenience.

DAIRY

PROFITS FROM FALL CALVES

Farmers Find It Most Profitable to Have Cows Freshen in Autumn—Needs Less Feeding.

Because more milk would be produced in the year and calves would be raised cheaper, farmers find it most profitable to have their cows freshen in the fall months.

The cow gives a large flow of milk at the beginning of the period of lactation. In the spring the milk yield, which gradually falls off, is suddenly increased when the cow is turned on fresh pasture.

Calves born in the fall need mainly milk and eat little grain during the period of winter feeding. When spring comes they are ready to be turned on pasture. Spring calves consume milk and grain during the cheap pasture season and require the same high-priced feeds during the following winter, when they are older and thus eat more. The fall-born calf at the same age needs only pasture.

At the Ohio experiment station some calves born in the fall were raised for about $5 less than others born in the spring. Under average farm conditions this difference would be even greater, as no grain would be fed to fall-born calves on pasture, while those at the station were given grain because of pasture shortage.

"GENTLE" BULL DOES INJURY

Few "Don'ts" Given by Expert of Missouri College to Be Followed in Handling Bulls.

By W. W. SWETT, Missouri College of Agriculture.

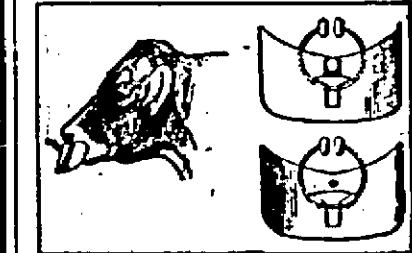

Following are a few "don'ts" which can be followed to advantage in handling a bull:

- Don't underfeed him when young or keep him overfat when mature.
- Don't use him too heavily before he is mature.
- Don't abuse him. You can get better results by gentle but firm handling.
- Don't tease him or allow children to play with him.
- Don't let him get the upper hand at any time.
- Don't let him realize his enormous strength.
- Don't keep him confined. Give him plenty of exercise.
- Don't trust any bull at any time. It is the "gentle" bull that does the damage.

prevents side sucking. Since the device is suspended freely from the nostrils, grazing is not interfered with.

KEEP CORRECT MILK RECORDS

Note Production of Each Individual Cow and Save Heifer Calves From Large Producers.

You cannot always buy good cows, but another way to get a good herd together is by keeping records of the production of each individual cow in your herd and saving the heifer calves from the larger producers. These calves being from a good registered sire and from selected cows, it will not take many years to build up a first-class herd. You can only know your best cows by continuous weighing and testing of the milk, and keeping records of each individual, so that some information may be secured as to the cost of production, which is growing more important as the prices of feed stuffs and labor advance.

CALVES GROWN ON SKIM MILK

Cost Is Less Than Where Whole Milk Is Fed—Animals Make Better Gains in the Feed Lot.

The cost of growing calves on skim milk was less than where whole milk was fed, or where the calves ran with their dams, and the skim-milk calves made better gains when put into the feed lot than the others did, according to some experimental work at the Kansas station.

It cost $228 per 100 pounds gain on the calves fed on skim milk, $7.00 per 100 pounds gain on whole milk, and $4.41 per 100 pounds gain where the calves ran with their dams. When these same calves were put into the feed lot the skim-milk calves made the fastest gains and the whole-milk calves

ONEIDA COUNTY TEACHERS' TRAINING SCHOOL

This school was founded and began its work of training teachers for Oneida county in the fall of 1910.
The school is located in the city of Rhinelanders.
For the purpose of teaching Agriculture the county board has provided a special appropriation and the use of the county fair grounds, about a half mile distant from the building. The agricultural course will be given in the training school building.
The people of the city have opened their homes freely to the students, many of whom are earning all or part of their expenses.

TERMS OF ADMISSION

The One Year Course:

- (1) At least three years of high school.
- (2) Graduation from a first class state graded school having three years of high school work in its course.
- (3) A teacher's certificate showing attainments equivalent to the requirements in (1) and (2).

The Two Year Course:

- (3) Completion of the ninth grade or the equivalent will be required.

TIME OF ENTRANCE

Students may enter at any time, but the division of the school year into four quarters makes it desirable for them to enter at the beginning of one of these four periods.

EXPENSES

There is no charge for tuition. All necessary text books are loaned and paper for drawing and examinations is furnished to students free of all expense.

RECENT LEGISLATION

The Wisconsin Legislature during the 1917 session passed a law which provides new requirements for rural teachers. Chapter 269 Section 450e requires that after September 1, 1919, every person granted a certificate to teach in any public school must have had at least a two year course of study in a high school, or the equivalent, and in addition shall have completed at least one year of instruction and training in the work of teaching; that after September 1, 1921, in order to obtain a license to teach a candidate shall have completed a four year high school course of study, or its equivalent, and shall have completed one year of professional training.

The additional year of instruction and training beyond the high school course may be obtained at a normal school, county training school for teachers, a Wisconsin high school offering a course of professional training authorized by the state, or any public school above a high school offering a course for the training of teachers equivalent to that in the state normal schools.

This course is open to anyone desiring a wider knowledge of practical agriculture. Nothing which can not be taken to the farm and put to practical use will be taught in this course. As the equipment in the way of cream separators, tools, work bench, etc., is so much better at Rhinelanders it is planned to hold the course at the Training School.

All persons wishing to take the course should write W. D. Juday, County Representative, Rhinelanders, as soon as possible or the County Superintendent, Rhinelanders, Wis.

VALUE OF THE DIPLOMA

1. A Training School diploma entitles the holder to teach for three years providing the first year's work is satisfactory. Graduates of a high school, who complete a Training school, may teach for five years, if their first year's work is satisfactory.

2. If the graduates of a Training school attend a professional school for teachers for nine weeks during the life of their certificates and receive satisfactory credits in two subjects, their certificates may be renewed without an examination.

3. Graduates of the Training school may teach in other counties without examination, if the County Superintendent will transfer the Training school standings and this law allows.

4. Graduates of Training schools secure better positions and receive higher wages than they should without this training.

5. The work in the school room is made easier and more pleasant for there is the knowledge that one is prepared for the work and will not be experimenting upon the pupils without special preparation for the work.

6. Hereafter a County Training school graduate may teach in any school below a high school, except in the principalship of a first-class state graded school. To be a principal of a second-class state graded school the graduate must have had one year's experience.

RELATION TO NORMAL SCHOOLS

High school graduates who take the Training school course may graduate from the State Normal school in one year and one summer school.

Training school graduates who are not High school graduates but who get three additional credits (algebra, physics, and English history) and four years of experience in teaching, may graduate from the State Normal in one year and one summer school.

MEN TEACHERS IN DEMAND

There are several men teaching successfully in the county at good salaries. The Training school equips such teachers for principalships of graded schools having two departments. There is a demand for more men as teachers and young men of good character will do well to secure the Training school certificate. The fact that this school has a strong agricultural course should attract young men to it, as the prospects are bright for those who can teach agriculture. Why not attend the Oneida County Training school and prepare yourself for a good position?

GENERAL INFORMATION FOR STUDENTS

New students are required to present their diplomas, certificates or promotion cards for the inspection of the faculty.

From past experience the faculty is prepared to advise students that the time required to complete the course is about as follows:

Ninth grade graduates, two years.

Tenth grade graduates, one and one-half years.

Persons who have graduated from a High school may expect to finish the course in one year.

The work of teaching demands that the teacher be possessed of many virtues. Character, learning, and the ability to teach are the three elements of attainment required. A County Training school is not a reformatory. Its energy must be spent in helping those who are purposeful and who show reasonable adaptability of becoming good teachers. The girl or boy who thinks more of spending evenings on the streets, at shows or in entertaining company than in study, will do well not to come.

The requirement that students stay in nights and study will be strictly insisted upon.

When a student is settled in an approved boarding or rooming place, no change should be made without the approval of the faculty.

Persons who seek admission for the first time must furnish two references concerning character and general adaptation to becoming a teacher.

STATE HIGHWAY COMMISSION ASSURES TAXPAYERS' ASS'N

August 3, 1917.
Oneida County Taxpayers' Ass'n.,
Rhinelander, Wis.
Gentlemen:

We have received yours dated July 30th in regard to the relative costs of road work in Oneida, Vilas and Price counties in 1916.

We have final reports of expenditures on state aid construction in Oneida and surrounding counties for the years 1914, 1915, and 1916. These final reports are made on what is known as our "pink sheet reports" for each separate piece of road construction. These pink sheets are made up from the county Highway Commissioners' books, looked over, checked, and O. K'd by our Division Engineers and are presumably correct, inasmuch as the balances and deficits available in each town must be carried consecutively forward, and our books and the County Highway Commissioner's books must check at all times. The Wisconsin Highway Commission does not investigate each individual account on every road, this matter being left to the course of county audit provided for by law but we have every reason to believe that the "pink sheet" statements as submitted here are accurate and correct.

We have caused to be tabulated from these statements the cost of constructing earth roads under the state aid law in Oneida and six surrounding counties in the years 1914, 1915, and 1916. We have not considered the small amount of surfaced roads in those counties, inasmuch as none of them have done any but a limited amount of surfacing, and the earth road costs are therefore, more representative.

A blue print of this tabulation is enclosed. This blue print is self-explanatory, if carefully looked over. The cost of building the earth roads is divided between the items "earth work, culverts, guard rail fence, and other work."

The average total cost per mile in 1916, including all items, it will be noted was as follows in the several counties compared.

Oneida County, $1593.00
Price County, $1140.00
Lincoln County, $1348.00
Iron County, $2738.00
Vilas County, $814.00
Forest County, $2176.00
Langlade, $160.00

The average of the averages for all the counties being $1627.00 per mile.

It will be noted that we do not check your figures as to the cost of work in either Oneida, Vilas, or Price counties; and we do not know what items you have included that we do not have covered by our presumably correct official reports. Possibly your figures cover some surfacing work which we have not included.

In considering the matter of road costs, the total cost per mile (even when the structures are of a similar character when finished) is of absolutely no value as a comparison of efficiency. The thing which may properly be considered is the unit price per cubic yard, per square yard, or per lineal foot at which the various kinds of work was done. However, a conclusion drawn from a comparison of unit prices is usually unfair either when comparing the cost of different roads within the same county, because the conditions under which the work is done, the kind of materials to be moved, the distance they are moved, and the obstacles to be met can make the unit prices vary 100% or more on roads with in even two or three miles of each other.

Our average cost for building macadam roads in Door county in 1915 was 32c per square yard, $2174, per mile complete. Our average cost for building exactly the same kind of road in Monroe county, was 71c per square yard, $5130, per mile complete. The difference in the two cases being that in one case material stone for crushing occurred close to the roads, and in the other case crushed stone had to be shipped in from a considerable distance unloaded and hauled long distances to the roads. You will note that in Iron county in 1916, the cost of excavation per cubic yard averaged 75c, and yet this does not mean that the work in Iron county was inefficiently done, because a very large percentage of the material moved was solid rock. Individual instances of very high or very low costs for the same kind of work could be quoted ad infinitum, but the fact that costs must vary according to circumstances should need no demonstration.

We note with surprise your statement that many of the roads in Price county built at a cost of $1344, a mile were surfaced with crushed stone. As a matter of fact, to our knowledge little, if any, crushed stone road has ever been built in Price county, the surfacing work which has been done being largely the placing of gravel on certain stretches of earth road, with bad natural soil.

As a matter of record, a considerable portion of the work done in Oneida county has been let by contract to the lowest responsible bidder, I believe after adequate advertisement and under fair conditions. The Division Engineer who has had charge for us of the work in Vilas, Iron, and Price counties has had charge for us of the work in Oneida county and approves all contracts and other arrangements before the State Highway Commission approves them. We have every confidence in his judgment and ability, and any assumption that he would allow work of the same class under the same local conditions to cost more in Oneida county than it does in the surrounding counties seems entirely unjustified.

While, as is the case in practically every county, probably improvement is possible in the methods of performing state aid road construction in Oneida county, we believe that, on the whole, the county state aid road and bridge committee and the county highway commissioner of Oneida county have turned over in completed road, adequate value for the money expended, and probably just as full value as has been turned over in any of the surrounding counties. This is said without disparagement of the excellent work being done by the organizations in the surrounding counties.

Whatever business the members of your organization may be engaged in, the membership must be familiar with the truism that one can buy any article which one might mention for almost any price and the value one gets for his money or the price paid depends entirely upon the quality of product bought. One can buy a pair of shoes for $8.00 in one store and a pair for $1.00 in another store. Or one can buy a suit of clothes for $50 at a tailor and at another tailor get one for $15. It does not by any means follow that one gets the same quality pair of shoes or the same quality suit of clothes at the two prices. In the same manner, the counties in Wisconsin are buying roads at vastly varying prices, depending upon the yardage and kind of material moved in the grading, the number and kind of culverts built, and in the case of surfaced roads, upon the kind of its occurrence from the point of surfacing used and the distance of its occurrence from the point of use. The fact that one county is paying twice as much as another county for a mile of road of any certain class is in most cases nothing more than the natural result of local conditions, and should be

AND WHAT IT MEANS TO YOU

YOU ARE RUSHED FOR TIME--A MACHINE PART BREAKS--AND THEN--

Every Hour of Delay Counts. Your Crop Is In Peril. How Soon Can

You Get Repairs?

If you bought your farm implements from pictures in a book, your distress can easily be pictured, when the rush of work is on and an important machine part breaks.

You can see the repair parts, too, in pictures, but you can't see the repairs themselves--not for days--days when you can almost feel real money slipping from you.

We sell implements that are built in every part to stand the strains of operation. They have made their great name in the world because of their quality. Yet, sometimes in the rush of work, when men and machines are overtaxed, even our implements may need repairs.

Our service to you takes care of these accidents--quickly. We carry repairs in stock--right here among you. Repairs not carried, we get in a jiffy. Getting repairs to you in a hurry is one of the special features that make our service especially profitable to you.

If one of our implements should happen to break, phone us promptly, just as you would phone your doctor when a bodily injury occurs. You will find that our repair service saves you dollars when time means dollars.

expected, just as any of us expect to pay varying prices for the same kind of thing in accordance with the quality, the local circumstances, and the distance from the point of supply.

As stated before, much of the road work in Oneida county for the last two years has been let by contract with, we believe, true competition prevailing, and this is probably the best indication, to the mind unfamiliar with the many unavoidable variations in the cost of road work, that the prices paid have been the fair going prices for the kind and quantity of work done. It would be helpful if the Oneida County Taxpayers' Association would bid on several pieces of the Oneida county road work and actually perform them, and at the termination of the contracts the Association and its officers would probably have a better conception of why the cost of the work in Oneida county has not averaged lower than it has, and why the cost of work per mile or per unit varies so much even between roads in the same county.

Yours very sincerely,
Wisconsin Highway Commission,

State Highway Engineer.

Mrs. Campbell and daughter of Milwaukee were in town Saturday. Mr. Campbell is managing editor of the Milwaukee Journal.

Big crowds of people have been daily attending the chautauqua being held at this place. Although the guarantors of the attraction will have to make good at least in part, the chautauqua may be considered a success. The big trouble was that town people failed to buy season tickets as they should have done. The signers of the contract guaranteed the sale of $600 worth of season tickets not including gate receipts which go to the company. Nevertheless it is very probable that a like affair will be held here next year as the people have learned what a chautauqua really is.

He Thought Her Rather Plain.
Mrs. Passy--"Everybody says my daughter got her beauty from me. What do you say to that?" Mr. Wits--"Well, I think it was very unkind of her to take it from you."

STATE WILL AID DEFORMED BABIES

New Law Provides Surgical
Treatment For Unfortunate Children

509-2nd Ave., Baraboo, Wis.
August 1, 1917.

Editor of the New North.
Rhinelander, Wis.

Dear Sir:

I am enclosing a short article on two acts passed by the last legislature, which I hope you will see fit to publish in the New North.

These laws seem so important to me, that I am most anxious for them to be widely known and understood. Thanking you for giving the article such consideration as you think it deserves, I am

Very truly yours,
Mrs. E. E. Dithmar.

Everyone would choose to have a perfect body, but no one has any control over his body at birth, and sometimes an unkind fate sends into this world a little baby with a crippled limb, a crooked back, a hare lip, a cleft palate or some other physical defect, which, if left untreated, would all his life handicap him in the race with those more physically perfect than he. The measure of success of his whole life may depend entirely upon care and treatment given him in infancy by those responsible for his welfare.

Modern surgery does wonderful things, and often the crippled limb can be made strong, the crooked back made straight and the hare lip made perfect, if only the work is done at the right time.

Sometimes the parents of such a child are ignorant of what can be done to remedy the trouble or when it should be done; or perhaps they think they cannot afford to pay what the skill of the surgeon demands.

The 1917 legislature of Wisconsin has just passed two laws by which the state itself is going to help the unfortunate babies, if their parents are unable to do so. What a grand work for a state to do--to make able bodied citizens out of crippled babies!

Briefly stated the new laws are as follows: By Chapters 98 and 105 of the Laws of 1917, the attending physician shall, within twenty-four hours after the birth (sometimes special treatment should begin as early as that) of any child with a deformity or physical defect, directly notify the State Board of Health of such deformity or defect, and the secretary of said board shall in turn make a report thereof to the State Board of Control, which is instructed to place such child in "such appropriate hospital as the board may determine for surgical or other treatment and care, whenever in the judgment of the board, such child would be benefitted thereby, and such treatment has not been or is not likely to be otherwise provided."

One of the laws also states that these reports shall be treated as confidential so that the name or address of the deformed or defective child shall not be divulged in any newspaper, magazine, or other publication.

This little explanation is written so that all of the mothers in Wisconsin may know just what the law is, in the hope that they will cooperate with the doctors in bringing all such unfortunate children, up to the age of fourteen years, to the place where they can get necessary care and surgical treatment.

STATE AUTO REPORT

There was an increase of 59,857 in the number of automobiles in use in Wisconsin in 1917 over 1916, according to the report issued by Secretary of State Hull today.

In 1916, 107,866 owners applied for license tags, and this year the number was increased to 158,637. A total of 2,171 dealers' licenses were issued, and 85.8 licenses were issued for motor cycles.

The license fees for motor vehicles totaled $821,142.50, and the cost of administering the law, which included the cost of the tags, was $39,060.

The 75 per cent distribution to counties under the law amounted to $596,205.07.

TRUCK DRIVERS WANTED

Twenty experienced motor truck drivers, twenty helpers, and ten expert mechanics are needed at once by the American Red Cross for service in France. The mechanical squad includes master carpenters, body builders, painters, machinists and electricians.

The trucks for which drivers are sought are of two-ton capacity, and will be used in the rapid transfer of Red Cross supplies from the seaport to their destination--a service made necessary by the congested condition of the railroads in France.

The request stated that the volunteers should be of mature age and they are expected to work without compensation. Red Cross officials are hopeful that employers of motor drivers and other expert help required will contribute the service of the men, paying their salaries while in Red Cross service. The Red Cross will pay the transportation and living expenses of the men while abroad.

Milwaukee, Wis., Aug. 6.—One of the star attractions of the Wisconsin State Fair, Sept. 10 to 15, will be the fearless DeCarno, who performs amazing feats on top of a swaying pole ninety feet high. No other man has ever dared to attempt to imitate DeCarno.

FRATERNAL DAY AT STATE FAIR WILL BE BIG AS STATE DAY

Immense Fraternal City to Be Established on the Fair Grounds, Each Order Maintaining Separate Headquarters—Drill Competitions to Be Held Tuesday Night, Sept. 11—Fraternal Congress Committee Is in Charge.

Milwaukee, Aug. 13. — Fraternalists of Wisconsin, under direction of a committee of the Wisconsin Fraternal League, of which John W. Brown of Stevens Point is secretary, will have a big day at this year's State Fair.

Fraternal Day will be Tuesday, Sept. 11. All fraternal organizations in the Badger State have combined to make this even bigger than State Day, which will be Sept. 12. The committee has been working on promotion plans for many weeks, and the response it is receiving is more than encouraging.

To guard the State Fair grounds requires nearly 200 men all week. Over fifty ticket sellers and takers are necessary. It requires nearly 2,000 employees in all capacities to run the fair.

There will be Fraternal City fronting on the main street of the Fair grounds. At the entrance to Fraternal City there will be a general office for the committee, and in the city each organization will maintain a headquarters all week. There will be special accommodations for fraternalists, including a lunch.

Drill competitions will be conducted in the Big Stock Judging pavilion Tuesday night, and it is expected that several fraternal leaders of national reputation will speak during the program of drill competitions.

There also will be an immense parade of fraternalists Friday night during the night program in front of the grand stand, each order being represented by a float.

Fraternal organizations are planning to make Fraternal Day of value to them as well as of value to the State Fair. They intend the day as a sort of rallying time for consideration of fraternal matters, and it is understood that a number of fraternal orders intend to hold state or national conventions in Milwaukee during State Fair Week, Sept. 10 to 15.

Bureaus to provide rooms and other accommodations for fraternalists during their stay will be maintained both in the downtown district in Milwaukee and on the Fair grounds.

Fraternal Day was established in 1916. It is expected that a Fraternal Building will rise on the Fair grounds some day.

TOO DRY FOR BASE BALL

Eagle River, Wis., Aug. 7, 1917. Mr. Chas. Belliel, Manager Rhinelander Base Ball Club, Rhinelander, Wis. Dear Charlie:—

I have your letter of this morning, asking if I could arrange a ball game with you sometime in the near future.

In reply to your inquiry I am sorry to say that we have no ball team here this season, the town of Eagle River went DRY July 1st. In fact it is so dry that the old base ball bats that we had on hand are all cracked. They seem to be in the same condition, that the dry duds were on April 3rd.

And with my experience in the base ball game the past 30 years, not financially, but for pleasure, it is very hard to get a good live bunch of base ball players, as well as fans, to go to a dry town. About all that there is in it is the pleasure, and who ever had any fun at the pump.

Yours regretfully,

MART HIRZEL.

HOLD UP ORE TRAIN

Tuesday night six men stopped an ore train on the Northwestern line at Rock Cut west of Hurley, flagging the train with a red light. When the trainmen came up to see what the trouble was the fellows told them to back the train onto the siding and not try to go any further, as they were not going to allow any more ore to be shipped to Ashland. The trainmen paid no attention to the threat and proceeded with their train. Two fellows were arrested at Hurley Thursday on suspicion of having been implicated in stopping the train.—Ironwood Times.
